

Gentrification: A Social Justice Issue

Wednesday, October 19, 2016

5:30-7:00 P.M.

Moot Senior Citizen Center 292 High Street Buffalo 14204

Professor Stacey Sutton from the College of Urban Planning & Public Affairs (CUPPA) at the University of Illinois, Chicago, will present what we don't know about gentrification, its social costs, how gentrification is not revitalization, and how residents can shape policies, develop solutions for positive outcomes

Come to listen and to participate; bring your observations, questions, and thoughts regarding urban redevelopment; participate in positive change for Buffalo's East Side and especially the Fruit Belt neighborhood

Sponsored by the Fruit Belt/McCarley Gardens Housing Task Force and Open Buffalo

For additional information, contact Veronica Hemphill-Nichols, Founder and Coordinator, Fruit Belt/McCarley Gardens Housing Task Force, 248 Grape Street, Buffalo 14204, Restorative_Justice@yahoo.com (716) 390-5707